

SFA South East Region Annual Small-Sided Games Coaching Conference 2010

Saturday 27th February 2010 . Hearts FC Training Academy, Heriot-Watt University

Following on from last year's inaugural event, the Scottish FA South East Region are delighted to announce that the annual Small-Sided Games Coaching Conference has been confirmed for Saturday 27th February 2010 at the Hearts Training Academy at Heriot-Watt University (12 noon . 4pm).

This free event is in addition to the certified coach education courses offered in the Region and we are keen to provide additional content to coaches who are interested in further advancing their knowledge of the game.

The Small-Sided Games Coach Development Conference will focus on developing young football players aged 12 and under (although content will also be relevant to all age groups) with a focus on developing individual technique as well as developing training sessions based on specific themes. The day will include practical demonstrations as well as discussion topics and will be delivered by some excellent guest coaches this year.

As with last year, the standard of guest coaches in attendance will be extremely high. Event organisers have already confirmed the services of Scotland's Head of Youth Development, Neil Mackintosh and Dundee United Children's Academy Manager, Ian Cathro. Neil and Ian will also be joined by Scottish FA License Coaches and Tutors, David Sheldon and Keith Wright in delivering a whole host of practical sessions

We anticipate there will be a huge demand to attend this event and encourage interested coaches to book early. To confirm your booking, please return the attached application form to us at the Scottish FA South East Region, McArthur Pavilion, 42 Peffermill Road, Edinburgh, EH16 5LL.
